

General Storage Information

- Do not store any combustibles! Do not store items such as propane tanks, old paint, cleaning fluids, gasoline or other things that might create or intensify a fire. Why risk your possessions just to keep a few cents worth of leftovers?
- Remember, you alone are responsible for providing insurance on your property. You must buy insurance coverage yourself and you must pay the premium yourself; the operator does not insure your goods.
- Remember that only the tenant is legally entitled to enter the storage space unless other arrangements have been made with the self storage facility; for example, if you want friends and members of your family to use your storage space, you must list them under access rights on the rental agreement.
- Visit your self-storage space on occasion to check the condition of your possessions; occasionally move or shift your goods so that you see all sides of them. Report any problems immediately.
- When moving out of storage, give at least a 10-day written notice. Take everything and do not leave any trash. Leave the unit in broom-clean condition. Remove your lock.
